

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

THE Register Books of Marsham Parish for the years comprised in this publication should have been ten in number, and appear to have been entire until about fifty years ago. But about the year 1835 the church was broken into and the Parish Chest ransacked, and the marauders, either in disappointment at finding nothing of more tangible value or in mere wanton malice, removed the whole of the Register Books, tore them from their covers, and scattered them about the churchyard and adjacent fields. With the exception of a part of the earliest Book, and one whole volume covering the interesting period, 1658—1684, the whole were recovered and very carefully sewn together, some few pages having a piece missing in the middle or a corner lost.

The first Book, 1588—1653, measures 14 inches by 6, and consists of five gatherings of vellum stitched in a limp cover of the same material. One whole gathering is missing, and the book has evidently been re-stitched and the edges pared since the loss of this part. The book is undoubtedly what the Latin title by Henry Aldred, curate, leads us to expect, a copy on vellum of the earlier paper book, and made in obedience to the injunction of 1697: the book being of sufficient size to continue in use until nearly sixty years later. The writing of Henry Aldred is extremely clear, though his work was evidently rapid. There are indications, besides the occurrence here and there of untranslated entries, that the whole of the earlier Register was written in Latin; thus we find the copyist gradually settling down into the form "daie," though he began by writing "day," or "daye." It would seem as if his eye became so accustomed to see "die" in every entry, that his hand unconsciously adopted definitely the spelling which most resembled it. Each page has four vertical lines ruled in the margin, from the first of which

With the exception of a part of the earliest Book, and one whole volume covering the interesting period, 1653—1684, the whole were recovered and very carefully sewn together, some few pages having a piece missing in the middle or a corner lost.

The first Book, 1598—1653, measures 14 inches by 6, and consists of five gatherings of vellum stitched in a limp cover of the same material. One whole gathering is missing, and the book has evidently been re-stitched and the edges pared since the loss of this part. The book is undoubtedly what the Latin title by Henry Aldred, curate, leads us to expect, a copy on vellum of the earlier paper book, and made in obedience to the injunction of 1697: the book being of sufficient size to continue in use until nearly sixty years later. The writing of Henry Aldred is extremely clear, though his work was evidently rapid. There are indications, besides the occurrence here and there of untranslated entries, that the whole of the earlier Register was written in Latin; thus we find the copyist gradually settling down into the form "daie," though he began by writing "day," or "daye." It would seem as if his eye became so accustomed to see "die" in every entry, that his hand unconsciously adopted definitely the spelling which most resembled it. Each page has four vertical lines ruled in the margin, from the first of which begin the entries of Baptisms, from the second those of Marriages, and from the third those of Burials. This system redeems in some measure the inter-mixture of the three classes of entries, and is reproduced in the text by asterisks. In more than one instance these lines correct slips of the pen by which "baptized" appears for "buried," or vice versa, and must have formed a check in copying throughout the book. There are very few abbreviations, and those of the simplest form. They are not reproduced in print except in one instance on page 13, where Mr. Aldred was apparently himself at fault. This industrious gentleman left a few names incomplete, intending no doubt a revision, which he never made: nor did he bring his work quite down to the year in which he was writing. Possibly the entry in which his own name figures on page 31, may be held to be both a reason and an excuse for these circumstances. We have adopted the method of indicating by numbers the hands of the various writers where they can be identified. Henry Aldred is No. 1, and deservedly holds the first place. No. 2 is Samuel Oates, Jun^r, or as he himself writes the notorious name, Otes. This gentleman took up the work where Mr. Aldred left off, having succeeded him in 1600 as curate to Samuel Otes, senior. His writing, which is of the character common to the Visitation MSS. of his time, continues to the end of the book, which brings us to the year when the registration passed for a season out of the hands of the clergy. All his pages seem to contain a fair copy of entries previously made, probably on loose sheets or "bills," or in a day book: and this remark applies to the greater part of all the earlier books. Samuel Otes died in 1658 still apparently in the possession of the benefice. But the loss of Book II. deprives us of any records of the last troubled years of his incumbency. A small portion of the contents of the last book is supplied by Register Bills. All of these that are extant are therefore printed after Book I. They are written by William Day and John Deyns, successive Rectors.

Book III. is of vellum, measuring 11 inches by 7½. It has on the cover in contemporary writing, "Marsham Register Booke Anno Dni 1684, pretium 5s.": and added in a later hand under the above date "to 1736 inclusive": and beneath: "There must have been a gross omission in the Registration from 1729 to 1736." This last remark, which is undeniably true, must have been written soon after the year last named, since the book came into use again for Marriages from 1738 to 1754, and again deserved similar censure. The title and the entries for the first year are in the writing of John Deyns, No. 3, whose burial is recorded on page 103. In his successor, No. 4, we have Daniel Wiseman, whose work continues for twenty years without interruption. This Rector was economical in the consumption of parchment, to say the least of it, and covered every possible corner of the pages with his minute caligraphy. The friction at the extremities has consequently done more than usual damage. An idea of his power of close-packing his entries may be formed by comparing the number crowded in by him on one leaf, pages 111—118, with the use made of the same-sized leaf by a bolder hand later on, page 176, the paging of the Register being printed in the margin. Mr. Wiseman, who had formerly been Rector of Blickling,¹ held the living of Horsford together with Marsham, but resided at the latter. His practice of making the young people of Horsford come six or seven miles to Marsham to be married may have been inconvenient for subsequent searchers in that parish; and gives a hint to follow up a pluralist when his livings are not too far apart for such an expedient. He was buried at Horsford in 1707.

No. 5, a clear modern-looking hand, occurs towards the close of Wiseman's time, and now and then on the pages following. The autographs in the Archdeacon's Registry enable us to identify the writer in Thomas Fuller, curate of Marsham in 1713, and probably of some neighbouring parish during the years immediately preceding. No. 6 is Robert Dymes, Rector of Swanton Abbot and curate of Marsham, whose burial is recorded here, though it took place at Norwich. No. 7 is Robert Pate, who does not appear to have been continuously resident even for the short term of his incumbency. No. 8 is

"Daniel filius Danielis Wiseman clerici et Annæ uxoris Suæ, natus inter duodecimam et unam horam undecimi diei mensis Februarii, baptizatus fuit a patre prædicto vicesimo die mensis prædicti Anno Domini 1672."

John Spurling, curate in 1716. No. 9 is James Norris, who wrote the entries with a few exceptions throughout his incumbency. He died in 1729 and was buried in his chancel.

Down to this date the Registers have every appearance of having been punctually and carefully written up. But with the incumbency of William Harvey comes a change for the worse. As this Rector held also the living of Lyng we had, before inspecting the Register Bills, supposed that his non-residence was the cause of the defects in the parish books. But the Register Bills for the first part of his time were written by him, and contain baptisms of his children,¹ and indicate residence at Marsham from 1729 to 1736. And we recognise his hand, No. 10, in the entries of the latter part of 1729 and a part of 1730. But after that date, although he punctually delivered the bills at the general and episcopal visitations, he ceased to copy the entries into the parish book. In 1737 the name of B. Pauls, curate, appears on the Register Bill, but the contents are not to be found in the book. This gentleman, No. 11, who was probably a relative of his Rector's wife, seems to have left several pages blank with the hope that the missing years might yet be filled in, and made a start towards the end of the book with the Marriages of 1738 and 1739, after which he ceased to enter Marriages at all. For Baptisms and Burials he began a new book, and entered them in separate parts, a reform for which he deserves credit.

Book IV. thus begun is of the same size as the preceding volume, but contains a mixture of parchment and paper, a very injudicious piece of economy. The ill-matched pages have travelled down the stream of time like the brass and earthen pots, and with much the same result, the weaker material having had the rough contact of its coarse companion to contend with in addition to its natural enemies and dangers. The first leaf is lost, but can have contained nothing more important than a title. In the first few pages many items are out of their proper place, lost threads apparently being gathered up from time to time and inserted with the current entries. This part of the Registers therefore requires careful search. In 1743 appears the hand of George Ray, curate, and is numbered 12. He seems to have been punctual in registering Baptisms and Burials, and the hope of supplying the neglected sheets of 1730 to 1736 having been now abandoned, his hand set down the few entries on p. 171, which we may suppose him to have learnt from the relatives of the persons named in them. But with regard to Marriages either none were solemnised by him, or he followed the bad example of his predecessors. The former hypothesis is quite tenable, for we find certain parishes popular for marriages at different times, and at this particular time many Marsham people were married in the neighbouring parish of Brampton.

With Nathaniel Ponder, No. 13, we return to careful fulfilment of all duties of registration. He became Rector in 1748, and while he continued the use of Book IV. for Baptisms and Burials only, he found space at the end of the third book to enter the Marriages which took place in that and the five following years. In 1754 Hardwicke's Act took effect, and the book prescribed by it came into use. It contains the certificates of publication of Banns, which form half the book, and which have proved serviceable in corroboration of doubtful readings. They also guide us to some marriages solemnised in other parishes. Beyond these remarks it seems unnecessary to say anything of this book or of the books which came into use in 1813, except that many leaves were torn or detached in the manner described above; but no leaf was lost, and the restoration of each portion to its proper place is rendered easy by the form of the books. After 1754 the writers of the various parts are easily identified, and the names are more conveniently noted in the text. It is, therefore, needless to follow them here. From first to last there is a rare immunity from scribbblings or casual interruptions of the text, the only examples of the former being the autographs of the Parish clerks, generally Jeckells or Delphs; and of the latter the Note on the Bells printed in the Appendix. There is a Memorandum as to a right of way written on spare leaves at the end of Book I., also given in the Appendix, and beneath the title of the same book, written in minute and well-

formed characters of an early date, but by a hand which cannot be identified, the following sentences :—

- ∴ legendo proficio : proficiendo lego ∴
 ∴ mors mihi lucrum : τα καλα δυνασα
 ∴ premisimus non amisimus : : abiit non obiit :
 ∴ Diabolus malum ingerere potest, cogere autem non potest

Whether these lines had any personal allusions, or were a mere collection of tags suitable for monumental and other purposes, it is impossible to say. The last line certainly looks like a hit at the Lay Register. The writer's knowledge of Greek must have been small: he may have meant to write δυνατα, but even that does not make a very elegant sentence.

Of the names recorded in the Registers none are widely known to fame, but a great number will be recognised as of local respectability. The limits of this work do not, however, admit of much research outside the parish memorials. Of the older inscriptions in the Church the greater number is recorded in Blomefield, and they are only repeated here in order to show how time and their custodians have treated them since that work was written. When Blomefield visited the Church, if indeed the description is his, the following were legible; on the Rood-screen:—Orate pro animabus Johannis de Norton et Margareta uxoris quorum animabus Deus propicietur. Labels in windows:—Orate pro animabus Thome de Norton et Marie uxoris predicti Thome.—Orate pro anima Roberti Atte Hill.—Orate pro anima Willielmi Atte Hill.—Pray for the soule of John Belknap, Gen. Arms of, Jenny, Moore, and others, and Bp. Wakering's cognisance. On a broken brass:—Orate pro anima Johannis Bysshop qui ob. mcccclxxii et pro anima Agnetis uxoris . . . mcccclxxxix et pro quibus tenentur.

Of these the brass alone survives, still more broken: the fragments of a few letters remain on the screen: but the whole of the painted glass has been removed. Many of the ancient inhabitants remember the time when almost every window contained some "gay glass," and can tell how most of it was removed by a so-called Antiquary, who was sometime resident in the parish, and who was troubled by few scruples in satisfying his thirst for collecting antiquities.¹ Dispersed by him at his various sales, it is impossible to say where most of these scrolls and coats may be now located, or whose modern villa may be borrowing an air of medieval respectability from their display. In one instance another sacrilegious hand had forestalled this depredator : and we have seen in a house at Brandiston the arms of the Plantagenet Kings in rich colours, which formerly adorned one of the clerestory windows, and the scroll mentioned above—Orate pro anima Roberti Atte Hill. These were removed by one who certainly ought to have known better, a curate of Marsham in 1836—7, who bore a somewhat similar name. Made up into one piece with the scroll beneath the regal coat, and inserted in the glazed portion of the lobby door, the effect may have been imposing. But the slammings of half a century have already made so many cracks that the whole is only held together by a back and front of plain glass, and the housemaid's broom-handle may at any time deal the finishing blow.

formed characters of an early date, but by a hand which cannot be identified, the following sentences :—

- ∴ legendo proficio : proficiendo lego ∴
 ∴ mors mihi lucrum : τα καλά θύνασα
 ∴ premisimus non amisimus : ∴ abiit non obiit :
 ∴ Diabolus malum ingerere potest, cogere autem non potest

Whether these lines had any personal allusions, or were a mere collection of tags suitable for monumental and other purposes, it is impossible to say. The last line certainly looks like a hit at the Lay Register. The writer's knowledge of Greek must have been small: he may have meant to write θύνασα, but even that does not make a very elegant sentence.

Of the names recorded in the Registers none are widely known to fame, but a great number will be recognised as of local respectability. The limits of this work do not, however, admit of much research outside the parish memorials. Of the older inscriptions in the Church the greater number is recorded in Blomefield, and they are only repeated here in order to show how time and their custodians have treated them since that work was written. When Blomefield visited the Church, if indeed the description is his, the following were legible; on the Rood-screen:—Orate pro animabus Johannis de Norton et Margareta uxoris quorum animabus Deus propicietur. Labels in windows:—Orate pro animabus Thome de Norton et Marie uxoris predicti Thome.—Orate pro anima Roberti Atte Hill.—Orate pro anima Willielmi Atte Hill.—Pray for the soule of John Belknap, Gen. Arms of, Jenny, Moore, and others, and Bp. Wakering's cognisance. On a broken brass:—Orate pro anima Johannis Bysshop qui ob. mcccclxxii et pro anima Agnetis uxoris . . . mcccclxxxix et pro quibus tenentur.

Of these the brass alone survives, still more broken: the fragments of a few letters remain on the screen: but the whole of the painted glass has been removed. Many of the ancient inhabitants remember the time when almost every window contained some "gay glass," and can tell how most of it was removed by a so-called Antiquary, who was sometime resident in the parish, and who was troubled by few scruples in satisfying his thirst for collecting antiquities.¹ Dispersed by him at his various sales, it is impossible to say where most of these scrolls and coats may be now located, or whose modern villa may be borrowing an air of medieval respectability from their display. In one instance another sacrilegious hand had forestalled this depredator : and we have seen in a house at Brandiston the arms of the Plantagenet Kings in rich colours, which formerly adorned one of the clerestory windows, and the scroll mentioned above—Orate pro anima Roberti Atte Hill. These were removed by one who certainly ought to have known better, a curate of Marsham in 1836—7, who bore a somewhat similar name. Made up into one piece with the scroll beneath the regal coat, and inserted in the glazed portion of the lobby door, the effect may have been imposing. But the slammings of half a century have already made so many cracks that the whole is only held together by a back and front of plain glass, and the housemaid's broom-handle may at any time deal the finishing blow.

In Blomefield stones to the memory of the following persons are mentioned :—

- Mrs. Margaret Lyng, died, October 18, 1698, aged 74.
- Mary, wife of Andrew Dix, 1621.
- Thomas Grix 1720, aged 74.
Thomas son of James Grix, 1712, aged 15.

The large slab mentioned by Blomefield, containing the harsh inscription, "Oblivini datus sum tanquam mortuus a corde" with the word Oblivio repeated six times round the margin, still remains legible. Cor is the seat of the passions rather than the vital principle, and one wonders that the relatives of the person whose resting place is thus marked, and whose life must have been somewhat notorious, succeeded in so singular a mode of consigning to oblivion one for whom they had lost all natural affection.¹ Readers of Foxe (Memorials pp. 465—466) have been tempted to guess at the identity, but we in Marsham have no desire to lift the veil; and the Will of the person there named not only shows that he was to be buried at Aylsham, but also tends to throw doubts upon the justice of the abuse heaped upon him by that untrustworthy writer. By far the most ancient monument in the Church is a sepulchral stone now placed in the north-west corner of the north aisle. This is uninscribed, but has sculptured work upon it which seems to mark a transition from the St. Cuthbert's Cross of pre-Norman times to the twelfth-century work, which has been likened to the ornamentation of ancient iron hinges.

To any one in search of details of any particular family whose name occurs in the records of this parish a hunt among the Wills preserved at Norwich would bring its reward. The kind of information obtainable from that source is shown in the following extracts kindly supplied by Mr. Thomas Tallack. Those selected will be seen to bridge roughly the period covered by the earlier registers.

Extracts from the Wills of John Swan and Elizabeth his wife, benefactors of the Poor, are preserved in the deed-box of the Charities, a handy account of which has been recently printed by Mr. C. Louis Buxton of Bolwick Hall (Jarrolds, 1887). John Swan was a native of Marsham, but by a strange irony what we take to be the entry of his baptism in 1629 wants the Christian name, this having been apparently forgotten by the minister before he found time for this part of his duty. We may mention the charity accounts as an excellent source of information as to the status of various families in the Registers, lists of the recipients having been preserved from 1694.

Of the Manors we have nothing to add to Blomefield's account, except that the Advowson is now separated from the manor of Marsham, having been retained by the Anson family when they sold the Marsham part of the Paston estate.

The following list of the institutions to the Rectory, which we have extracted from the Diocesan Records will also give an outline of the descent of the manors :—

Many other lights are mentioned in Blomefield.

The Church of All Saints' consists of Chancel, Nave with N. and S. aisles, and a square western tower, a south Porch, and a vestry opening to the north door of the chancel. If we may judge by the chancel and tower the plan of the present building belongs to the latter part of the thirteenth century. In the nave however the windows of the aisles and clerestory indicate either a rebuilding or renovation at the close of the following century, being of the style called perpendicular. The hammer-beam roof of the nave belongs also to the latter period. The masonry was not sufficiently well built to resist the thrust of this kind of roof, and tie-beams of rough timber have at some later time been inserted to arrest further damage. These beams naturally spoil the appearance of the roof, and have displaced some of the carved ornamentation. The whole church has also undergone restoration at a recent date, and some ancient features have as usual disappeared. The chancel especially has been much disfigured by the levelling of the floor of the sacrum, and by the insertion of a new east window copied from some bad example of the perpendicular style, the sill having been brought some three or four feet lower than before to correspond with the same alteration of the floor level. The Tower requires a considerable amount of repair, and it is hoped that subscribers and readers of this Register, the printing of which has been undertaken in hopes of helping that work, will for that reason be lenient to its defects.

It will be gathered from what already has been said that this church was formerly well provided both with the accompaniments of the ancient form of worship, and with ornaments of all kinds.

The return of Church goods made in 1552 is among the number still preserved in the Record Office, and will not be without interest to many. It runs as follows:—

Some, however, of the property of the Church had already been disposed of, as may be seen from the following certificate belonging to an earlier year of the same reign :—

(Record Office. K. Edward vi. no year given).

And after the second commission there was probably little delay in the sale of what was condemned thereby. But we cannot suppose that the inhabitants, many of whose near relatives had no doubt contributed to the adornment of their place of worship, were willing to see it stripped of all but the barest necessities; and it is not surprising to find signs in the Visitation books of the diocese that there was much quiet resistance. Thus of Marsham we find it noted in 1563, "The Roodloft is not pluckt down." At what date this was accomplished we cannot say. But the Rood screen seems to have been in very good preservation as lately as 1846¹ and even now is structurally sufficiently perfect to exhibit what it has been, a good example of early fifteenth century work. On the panels of the lower part are painted the figures of fourteen Saints, seven on each side of the doorway. Although the faces have been much injured—a bench within easy reach having been thought until recently a good place to seat the school children—yet the emblems which can still be observed in several instances enable us to say with some confidence, that the figures represent the Twelve Apostles and two other saints, the latter in all probability the patron saints of John and Margaret de Norton. Beginning in the doorway and counting northward we find: 1. S. Peter, two Keys and Book. 2. S. Andrew, Cross Saltire. 3. S. John, A. & E., Chalice. 4. S. James the Greater, Pilgrim's Staff. 5. S. Thomas, Lance and Book. 6. S. James the Less, Fullers Club. 7. A Female Saint, holding a crosscut saw. On the South side, 2. S. Philip, Basket, is the only one with a distinctive emblem. 1. 3. 4. 5. have books. 6 appears to be preaching. 7. is a Bishop with Mitre and Staff.

The beautiful xv century Font remains in good preservation. It is octagonal in shape, the bowl being supported by eight angels springing from an octagonal shaft. On the eight sides of the bowl in canopied panels are sculptured the seven sacraments of the Roman Church and one other subject. Baptism naturally is on the eastern side, Penance on the Western: on the northern are Eucharist, N.E., Orders, N., and Matrimony, N. W.; on the Southern, Confirmation, S.E., Extreme Unction, S., and an eighth subject, S.W., which seems to be Purgatory or perhaps the Preaching to the souls in Hades. The shaft contains in panels figures of the four Evangelists, the intervening panels having the Evangelical symbols. Blomefield can only have taken a cursory glance at this Font, as it would be impossible to mistake these symbols for Confessors, nor could the legend of St George and the Dragon be evolved from the eighth panel above. The whole stands upon an octagonal base graduated to form two steps on all sides, the second having a course of fourleaved flowers running round the face, a characteristic ornament which is also found carved on the screen. There is little else that requires description besides the peal of bells, which will be more conveniently noticed in the Appendix.

To return for one moment to the Registers it is necessary to warn those who search them that the varieties of spelling in the names of several families are very numerous, and that although the Index has been very carefully compiled, it has been found impracticable to make it a complete key to these varieties. As a rule one form of surname has been adhered to and the varieties will be found bracketed under this. But in some instances where the different forms are alphabetically far apart, it has been thought better to index them separately. Thus Ulph and Olfe are treated distinctly, and the name now stereotyped as Penton, but which appears in the registers under the forms Panten, Pantenny, Pantin, Panton, Penten, Pentein, Penteny, Pentenny, Pentin, Penton, Spantin, and Spanton, has been indexed under the three of Pantin, Penton, and Spantin: Alexander and Saunders are both indexed though they refer to the same family, as the following note in the register of the neighbouring parish of Hevingham shows:—Memorandum: Johes Saunders vulgo vocatur, verum nomen est Johes Alexander, patet ex Registro Haynforth ubi natus fuit A° 1634. (Hevingham Register.)

In Christian names no distinction in indexing has been made between obvious synonyms, and Marie, Mary, Marye, Susanna, Susannah, Susanne, and like variations will be found generally under that form which occurs first.

The Editor cannot conclude this somewhat lengthy introduction without expressing his obligations to Dr Bensly and Walter Overbury, Esq., for their ready permission to make use of the records in the Registries of the Diocesan and Archdeacon respectively.

¹ End of Book I, and of handwriting No. 2. The Rev. Samuel Otes, Rector, whose pen has filled so many of these pages, was no doubt superseded in that part of his duties by the Lay Register of 1653. He seems, however, to have kept possession of his rectory and other property till his death. He was the son of the Rev. Samuel Otes, Rector of Marsham 1577 to 1605 and of North Repps 1588 to 1620. Born about 1578, he was ordained Priest by William, Bishop of Norwich, 21 Dec. 1601, having been Curate of Marsham since the beginning of that year. On the cession of his father he was presented by the king to the Rectory, and was instituted by the Archbishop of the Province 8 May 1605: and was licensed to preach throughout the diocese by John, Bp. of Norwich, 22 Nov. 1608. After an incumbency of 53 years he died in 1658. His Will, dated 15 Oct. 1658, and proved, at London, 9 March 1658-9, provides as follows:—"To be buried in the chancel of Marsham church.—Anne, wife, to be sole Executrix.—to have messuage late purchased of one Andrew Dix wherein one Allen now dwelleth, and the 7 acres of land with it, for her life, and then to Samuel, son—Robert, son, to have 10 acres of land called Firmans.—Richard, son, to have 5 acres near above—Samuel the son to have library of books, bedstead and bedding, & also all the other lumber therein, also a tapestry carpet sometime my father's. Richard, son, to have 1½ acres of free land abutting upon Woodgate-greene & lying by Crane's lane, now occupied by Roger Carter.—To Poor of parish church of Marsham 20s. at my burial.—Anne, daughter, my best tapestry coverlit.—Margaret, daughter, a featherbed.—W^m Searles, clerk, Tho. Parker, Rich^d Allen, Oliver Exham, Witnesses." (Institution Books, Liber 22—Norwich Archd. Wills. fol 585. 1658.)

APPENDIX.

NOTE 1. THE BELLS.

The following Note in the handwriting of the Rev. Samuel Otes is found in the First Register Book, (page 21).

A note what the olde three bells weighed before they were shott w^h was in the year 1621.

The weight of the litle bell was seaven hundred & half a iust, & no more.

The weight of the second bell was nine hundred fifty four poundes and a half.

The weight of the grett bell was thirteene hundred & a half & one and twenty poundes.

The old Brasses weighed fourtie five poundes.

The weight in all cam to thirtye hundred & a half & nineteene pounde.

A note what the 4 newe bells weighed after they wer newe shott att y^e same time, and also of y^e newe Brasses.

The Treble weighed when it was newe shott foure hundred and a half and half a pounde.

The second bell weighed six hundred iust.

The third bell weighed eaight hundred wantinge twenty three pounds.

The grett Bell weighed Ten hundred wantinge three pound, w^h cam to in all eaight and twenty hundred & thirtie pound.

The newe brasses weighed thirty seaven pound.

The rest of the mettle remaines still in the Bell founders hands towarde the charge of the shootinge.

per me Samaelem Otes parson here an eye witnessse to all this.

These four bells remained in use until 1824, when the old No. 8 became the Tenor, having been pared down and set in B. Nos. 1, 2, and the "grett Bell," were cast by Dobson, of Downham, into Nos. 2, 3, 4, and 5 of a peal of six; the treble being supplied by the "Charles Newman" bell in the list given below. This bell is said to have been sold by the people of Blickling, when the tower of their church became dangerous in the middle of the last century, but it was probably acquired by Marsham through Dobson in 1824. The present peal of eight was made up in 1842 by the addition of two bells purchased by subscription. The inscriptions on the eight bells now in the tower are as follows:—

1. and 2. THOMAS. MEARS. FOUNDER. LONDON. 1842.
3. CHARLES. NEWMAN. MADE. MEE. 1708.
4. and 5. 1824.
6. WILL^m. DOBSON. FOUNDER. DOWNHAM. NORFOLK. 1824.
7. W^m. GOODALL. RECTOR. JOHN. HOWLETT. THO^s. RAYSON. CHURCHW^{DNS}. 1824.
8. Anno. Domini. 1621. Arms of Brasyer, Norwich City, and Monogram of William and Alice Brend.

The weights are given by L'Estrange as:—

	cwt.	qr.	lb.		cwt.	qr.	lb.
1.	8.	1.	24.	5.	4.	1.	17.
2.	3.	0.	17.	6.	5.	0.	9.
3.	3.	2.	0.	7.	5.	3.	1.
4.	4.	0.	0.	8.	7.	2.	0.

But he has transposed the descriptions of Nos. 8 and 4, the "Newman" bell being in reality No. 3.

NOTE 2. A RIGHT OF WAY.

The following memorandum is written on the spare pages at the end of the First Book. The Way now remains as a Foot-path only.

"In perpetuum Rei Memoriam."

Know all men by these presents that we whose names are here underwritten, being ancient Inhabitants of Marsham, the first of which did at the Court in the former years 1698 give in his evidence and testimony to the Steward Colonell Justice John Ayl Esquire openly in the presence of all the Tenants and Inhabitants, and the rest of us which were ready to give in our evidence and testimony at the last Court October the 18th 1699 but prevented by the open acknowledgments of the proprietors of the lands through which the aforesaid way lieth, & which we are ready to depose most solemnly upon oath whenever we shall be required, before any Judge or Magistrate or Master of Chancery, that we have known this drift way to & from the old Parsonage as before mentioned for above fiftie years and never knew or heard anything to the contrary, but that it hath been time out of mind successively from age to age & from generation to generation : witnesse our hands this 27th day of December 1699.

ROGER MARTIN now foure score & five years old & came into this town at 34 yeares of age.

JOHN MEDCALFE (his + marke) being now threescore & twelve yeares of age borne in this towne & brought up in it & never out of it but one yeare, & M^{re} Otes his Cart brought theire firing from the old Parsonage through that way.

CLEMENT JECKELL (his + marke) senior now threescore & eleven yeares of age borne & that alwayes lived in this Towne.

JAMES GEDGE (his + marke) being threescore & four or five yeares of age, borne in Hevingham, & came riding from the western part of Hevingham when a child of about ten yeares of age, & so forwards for severall yeares till at man's estate, that way through the whites to Balwick water mill, & particularly once or oftener with his sister, and all the neighbours of that part of Hevingham, and old Philip Watker continually the father of the present John Watker who declares that his father did it. As James Gedge now living & that hath lived about thirty yeares in Marsham & severall of the neighbours did, & know that he did nemine contradicente through Hevingham lane from Hevingham field, and crossing Marsham lane into a short lane of about threescore paces long that leades into Charles Busting's Pightle & so through the Whites.

MATTHEW GOSSE (his + marke) being now threescore & ten yeares old & came with his father John Gosse into Marsham at ten yeares of age & have lived threescore yeares in Marsham, & hath known it always so to be even whilst his father aforesaid was tenant to the Whites for 4 or 5 yeares & that he hath seen 20 times or more M^{re} Otes then Rector his Cart come through the same in the time aforesaid with broome from the old Parsonage.

ALICE ALLEN (her + marke) being now threescore & one years of age borne at Balwick Mill her father Oliver Smith, miller & wheelwright there, to which mill the inhabitants of the western part of Hevingham came for the time aforesaid § continually, out of Hevingham lane into the short leading laue into Parker's now Charles Busting's Pightle & so into & through the Whites and so into the camping land, in which † where (sic) she lived till she was 22 yeares old, & passing frequently that way hath seen passengers going & coming on horseback with their corne & meale to & from her fathers mill that once was, & hath frequently seen M^{ter} Otes his Cart carrying when they had occasion to carry & bringing their firing fuell, as wood, broome, furse, brakes, through that way.

§ Viz: from the feast of All Saints to the Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

† She lived with her mother in her first husband Dowsinge's house where Rich: Otes now liveth

ANNE ALLEN (her + marke) the mother of Richard Allen the present though absent husband of Alice Allen afores^d being four-score & 2 yeares old come midsummer next, borne in this house where she now liveth with her sonne Isaack Blyth & her daughter Anne his wife (now M^{ter} Adams') & hath always lived here saith the same, & further that it was layd open at shack† & never stopt up till Candlemas, & that M^{ter} Otes came through with his wood, broome, & furse, brakes from thence, & then besides innumerable times seeing it she frequently in morning heard their collar of bells with which their horses usually went: that her husband Charles Allen, & Philip Watker of Hevingham have both usually & frequently come with their carts out of Hevingham with broome & furse through the Whites to Marsham Towne & all strangers from that part of Hevingham come through that way all that time of the yeare, & that when Thomas Harwin M^{ter} Lyng's Tenant to the Whites desired his landlord's leave to ditch it in he refused saying that without the towns consent it would not be, for it was an old custome of shack & passage, & it could not be put by, said M^{ter} John Lyng the owner and a Counsellor at Law, his Tenant Thomas Harwin afores^d living then where Edward Peartree the present Tenant of the same to M^{ter} Lancaster Topcliffe now liveth, onely the Smith's shop was not there then.

NOTE 8. THE REGISTER-BILLS.

As very sweeping assertions have been made as to the state of the Transcripts of Parish Registers, called in the Diocese of ‡ A local name for acorn harvest.

Norwich, Register Bills, it may be interesting to note the number which have survived in the case of this Parish. There are extant in the Registry of the Archdeacon of Norwich the following Marsham Register Bills, among a mass of others :—

1726, 1727, by James Norris : James Grix.
1730, 1731, 1732, 1733, 1737, 1742, as printed above.
1743, 1744, 1745, 1747, by G. Ray, curate.
1748, 1749, 1750, 1751, by Nathaniel Ponder : Sam^l Dyball. John Green. 1753, 1754, by N. Ponder.
1756, 1757, 1758, by W. Gordon.
1763, 1764, 1765, 1766, 1767, 1768, 1777, 1778, 1781, by W^m Gordon.
1789, by W^m Jewell. 1791 by W^m Jewell curate : John Kiddle, W^m Reynolds.

In all 64 Bills between 1600 and 1800, the whole of which have been carefully compared with the contents of the Registers, a work made comparatively easy by the admirable order in which the Bills have been arranged under Mr. Overbury's care.

In the Diocesan Registry are contained the Bills delivered in the years of the Bishops' Visitations, and we observed that Incumbents occasionally delivered the Bills of preceding years, probably because they had been prevented from attending the "General" to deliver them at the proper time. Among the Visitation years appear to have been, 1691, 1709, 1716,* 1723, 1728, 1735, 1740, 1747, 1763, 1770, 1777, 1784, 1791, 1794, 1801, 1806, &c. The packet of 1716 has been searched in vain. In that of 1735, we found the Bill of 1734—5 printed above. We also found in the packet of 1740, the Bills, 1 April 1738 to 1 April 1739, and 1 April 1739 to Visitation, both signed, W^m Harvey, Rector; and in that of 1747, the Bill Easter 1746 to Easter 1747, signed G. Ray, curate. It may be safely assumed that a considerable proportion of Bills are preserved among the other packets, but the Registers being perfect, search was unnecessary. Since 1815 all Transcripts have been sent to the Diocesan Registry, and the blame for any missing years must be laid upon the Parishes and not upon the Registry, the methodical arrangement of which rendered easy the restoration of two torn entries of 1819.
